OLD GLORY

National Song

WORDS BY

J.B. JOHNSON.

MUSIC BY

Clarence Johnson.

NEW YORK:
WILLIS WOODWARD & CO.
842 & 844 BROADWAY.

Copyright 1896 by J.B. Johnson & Clarence Johnson.
There is a flag, no tyrant's rag, known wide as earth and
From north, from south, from east and west, the loyal hordes will
As breaks the night she greets the sight the patriot's heart to deep, Whose colors bright thro' day and night their mus - ter From hill and dale the nation's best round cheer; Her stars shine forth, a promise bright of Copyright 1896 by J.B. Johnson & C. Johnson. guard o'er freedom keep; And foe or friend the free-dom's flag will clus-ter. The fair-haired youth, a free-dom with out fear; When war's thick clouds the knee will bend when told in song or story How mother's pride, the sage with tresses hoary With earth en shroud, and battle wages go-ry 'Tis pa-triots bold with blood or gold will rally to "Old Glo-ry."

shout and pray'r firm side by side will rally to "Old Glo-ry."
ne'er so dark some ray or spark does not reveal "Old Glo-ry."

Old Glory - 3
CHORUS.

Dear "Old Glory grand old flag, She never shall dip to a tyrant's rag; From the Gulf at the south to the north-

1.

valley and crag we'll live to honor or die in defense of "Old Glory."

2.

valley and crag we'll live to honor or die in defense of Old Glory.