more to feel her kisses and her words of bright'est cheer, When she bid me hope, be patient, true, and brave; And I keep my little flower ever.

On the grassy mound, For they sent me a rose from mother's grave.
Near, where e'er I go, For it blossomed on my angel mother's grave.

CHORUS.

When you kneel down in pray'r near the spot where she's laid, Remember this fav'-or that I crave; Oh! Take from the holy ground a blossom from the mound, And send me a rose from mother's grave.
