The Yankees play'd the game tu strong, The corners now are hung with crape,
 And dim-mycrats ar sold, The winder blinds ar down,
 The late unpleasantness in mind I feel dimmocracy is ded
 Is not so very old;— As any nail in town;
 To take a man that salt wont save, I'll seek a place whar whisky flows,
 So orful hard to keep,— And lay me down to die,—
 Who ust to butcher dimmocrats, Demmoerisy must shut up shop—
 Is going most tu steep. O how I want to cry!
