

THE Music in the Historical Play of Columbus.

Composed and adapted for the Piano Forte Flute or Violin by

A. Reinagle.

Philadelphia Printed for the Author

Price 37 Cents

Copyright secured according to Law

N^o. 1 March when the Indians appear

Maestoso

Majore

Minore

No 2 When the Priestesses of the Sun appear

Lively

No. 3 When the Boats come off from the Ship

N^o. 4 When Cora is going to suffer death in the Temple of the Sun

N^o. 5 When Columbus returns

N^o. 6 Sung by the Genius of Columbia &c

Written by Alexander Martin, L.L.

Maestoso

M^r MARSHALL
When first Co - lum - bus fought this strand oceans bo - som brooding long at - ten - dant Genii haild the land

Chor^o
thus ex - ul - ting rais'd their song Hail Co - lum - bia great and free the world shall learn to rule from thee

2^d Verse M^r DARLEY

New cities near the swelling tide
Shall soon erect their towering head
From east to west thy navies ride
And commerce thy rich treasures spread
Hail Columbia &

3^d Verse M^r MARSHALL

Here great in arms shall Washington
Thy generous sons to conquest lead
Shall teach them glories race to run
Or in their countrys cause to bleed
Hail Columbia &c

4th Verse M^r FOX

Nations oppress'd here seek thy shield
No more shall clank their tyrant chain
Thy foes shall to thy power yeild
And own their hostile malice vain
Hail Columbia &c

5th Verse M^r MARSHALL

Here arts and arms well temper'd join
Thy sons by worth to honors raise
Thy daughters shall transcendant shine
With virtue and with beautys rays
Hail Columbia &c