For the conflict now is here. Hail once more the flag.
If the right is only there; Right to lift a "Old, Glory" Boys, well rally 'round her then,
And the ignorance of night Shall be lifted fallen brethren, Wheresoever he may be;
Then the Millennium will come, When all strife and from all people, The oppressor and oppressed, war and error, And all ignorance and fear,

For she ever tells the story, Bringing freedom to all men.
Right to burst the bonds of slavery, And to set the captive free.
Till the sunlight of God's presence, With love and justice all had blessed.
Shall be banished, yes for ever, Nevermore to reappear.
