

LOVELY HANNAH

The Words by a Gentleman of this City

Philadelphia published by G. WILLIG N^o 185 Market S^t

Andante
Affettuoso

pi - ty turn , to see The Youth who sighs , who dies for thee .

2

3

While others for thy smiles implore,
And practice each seductive art,
I offer, all a Shepherd's store,
A simple, but a constant heart.
Ah turn, in pity turn, to see
The Youth who sighs, who dies for thee .

If you command me to expire,
Alas! thy lover shall obey;
And, proving all his fond desire,
By death his constancy display.
Ah turn, in pity turn, to see
The Youth who sighs, who dies for thee .