

20
Hast thou not felt the Wounding thorn

WORDS BY

Walter Scott

Composed by

Carlo D. Pascini.

BALTIMORE Published and Sold by GEO. WILLIG JR.

S L O W with Feeling .

Hast thou not felt the wounding thorn? That guards the rose? That guards the rose? And he full many a lovely Entered according to act of Congress the 29th day of September 1828 by George Willig of the State of Maryland.

G. CHRISTMAN
404
PEARL
ST
NEW-YORK.

ritard a tempo

morn, In tempest close, In tempest close, Hast thou not known that sweetest flowers Would still decay? Would still de_cay? And that the dearest happier hours Must pass a_way? Must pass away, And that the dearest happier hours Must pass a_way? Must pass a_way.

perdendosi pp

2

But do thy roses bloom in vain,
 Nor charm thee more!
 Do not bright days return again,
 Though tempest pour!
 Though flowers must wither, yet their bed
 With buds is ripe,
 And still blest hours returning shade
 Their light on life.

Hast thou not felt