

JULIA'S WREATH,

Lines presented to a Friend with a bunch of Multiflora Roses. (Music by C. Meineke.)

Baltimore Published by JOHN COLE No. 123 Market St.

ANDANTE.

dolce

When all these roses shall decay And their sweet fragrance fade away Oh

let them still re-membrance wake And cherish them for Ju-lia's sake And che-rish them for Ju-lia's sake.

- 2 Thus fade the joys of mortals here,
And life is vain, and full of care ;
Like this so sweet, yet transient flower,
They bloom, and wither in an hour.
- 3 Not so the friendship shall decline,
That warms a heart so true as thine ;
But like the fragrance of the rose,
Be ever sweetest at the close .
- 4 Then twine a wreath and wear it now,
In blooming beauty on thy brow ;
But when its freshness shall depart ,
Tho' wither'd, twine it round thy heart.

JULIA'S WREATH,

Lines presented to a Friend with a bunch of Multiflora Roses. (Music by C. Meineke.)

Baltimore Published by JOHN COLE No. 123 Market St.

ANDANTE.

dolce

When all these roses shall decay And their sweet fragrance fade away Oh

let them still re-membrance wake And cherish them for Ju-lia's sake And che-rish them for Ju-lia's sake.

- 2 Thus fade the joys of mortals here,
And life is vain, and full of care ;
Like this so sweet, yet transient flower,
They bloom, and wither in an hour.
- 3 Not so the friendship shall decline,
That warms a heart so true as thine ;
But like the fragrance of the rose,
Be ever sweetest at the close .
- 4 Then twine a wreath and wear it now,
In blooming beauty on thy brow ;
But when its freshness shall depart ,
Tho' wither'd, twine it round thy heart.