The solos usually sung at Harvard to this music are College songs which contain so many local names and allusions as to render them uninteresting to all but Harvard Students. Some familiar verses from Longfellow's Excelsior are therefore inserted for the solo parts of the song.

COMmodo.

shades of night were falling fast,  Tral-la-la, Tral-la-la, As thro' an Alpine village pass'd,

Tral-la-la, la la! A youth, who bore, mid snow and ice, A banner with the strange device,

Ritard.
CHORUS.

His brow was sad; his eye beneath,
Flashed like a faulchion from its sheath,
And like a silver clarion rung
The accents of that unknown tongue,
              Upideei &c.

3.

"O stay, the maiden said, and rest
Thy weary head upon this breast!"
A tear stood in his bright blue eye,
But still he answered with a sigh,
              Upideei &c.

4.

At break of day, as heaven ward
The pious monks of Saint Bernard
Uttered the oft repeated prayer,
A voice cried through the startled air,
              Upideei &c.

5.

A traveller, by the faithful hound,
Half buried in the snow was found
Still grasping in his hand of ice
That banner with the strange device,
              Upideei &c.
