"I know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows."

A popular Duet, sung In Shakespeare's 'Revived Play of the'
Merry Wives of Windsor, Performed at the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane.
Composed by Charles E. Horn.

Baltimore Published & Sold by JOHN COLE No.123 Market Street.

Andante.

Mrs. Page.
I know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows, I know a bank whereon the Ann Page.

wild thyme blows

where cowslips and the wild thyme blows where oxlips and the nodding violet grows where cowslips and the nodding violet grows I know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows— the nodding violet grows I know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows— the wild thyme blows I know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows

wild thyme blows
I know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows

I know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows

Nodding violet grows where cowslips and the nodding violet grows

Nodding violet grows where cowslips and the nodding violet grows

Know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows

Know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows

Know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows
Piu Allegro.

noodling noddling violet grows.

There sleeps the fairy Queen tere slept sometimes of the night flul'd in their flow'rs with dances and de-light.

89
there sleeps sometimes of the night lull'd in the flow'rs with

dances and de__light
with dances and de__light
with dances and de__light
with dances and de__light
with dan

- light with dances and de__light with dan

- light with dances and de__light with dan

- light with dances and de__light with dan

89