FREEDOM'S HOME AND FLAG.

Written by EDWIN SLEEPER. Private of the 119th Pennsylvania Volunteers, a Participant in the following Battles: Fredericksburg, Dec. 1862, and April 1863. Wounded at Chancellorsville May 1863.

Engraved according to Act of Congress AD. 1864, by G.W. Beckel in the Clerk's Office of the Dist. Court for the Easter Dist. of Penn.
She called her scanty offspring forth, Across Atlantic billows wide, Bold,

When freedom long in thrallom lain, And crush'd to Earth by tyrant's feet; A-dauntless men from chilly north, To follow her let what betide. They rising, strove to burst her chain, Then sought some place to fix her seat. In come; despising danger, toil, In creased in numbers power and skill, And vain she searched historic ground, On all beheld despotic bands, But gained her all this genial soil, When Yorktown's fi nal din was still.

westward turned her hopes to found A lasting home in new found lands.

Freedom's Home and Flag.
CHORUS.

Air.

Hurrah! hurrah! as liberty the soul inflates Exalt her praise and hail the free United States.

ALTO.

Tenor.

Hurrah! hurrah! as liberty the soul inflates Exalt her praise and hail the free United States.

Bass.

-rah! hurrah! as liberty the soul inflates Exalt her praise and hail the free United States.

She made for them a standard bright,
Where seven red stripes, of zealous hue;
And six of pure untainted white:
Bear spangled field of faithful blue.
To glory it was dedicate,
Display it ever, proudly high;
Its every star denotes a state.
Confederate in fraternal tie.

CHORUS. Hurrah &c.

We true descendants from brave sires,
Renowned in arts, in war and thrift;
In us eternal burn their fires:
Maintaining still the priceless gift.
From broad spread ice to tropic glare,
On either hand from sea to sea;
How sweet the greetings fill the air
Of millions blest, united free.

CHORUS. Hurrah &c.

Freedom's Home and Flag.
