THESE VERSES (without coon dialect,) CAN BE SUNG TO SAME MUSIC.

1. A high toned girl has won me,
A belle of sweet sixteen,
She is the swellest girl I've seen,
This Honolulu hula queen,
For style and grace this lady
Is everything that's swell,
She is a dream,
My Honolulu belle;
When she goes by the ladies sigh,
The swells all wink their eyes;
The natives shout when she goes out,
And this is what they cry:— CHORUS.

2. Next Easter morn I'll wed her,
This Oriental queen,
Then wedding bells will sweetly chime,
And with my bride I'll fall in line,
All decked in orange blossoms
And silks and satins fine.
She'll soon be mine,
This hula girl divine,
The choir will sing and chant a hymn
When I put on the ring.
And when I march out with my bride,
The natives they will sing. CHORUS.

CHORUS.
She is a dream, my Honolulu queen,
The sweetest girl that ever was seen;
She is divine, this hula girl of mine,
She is the belle of Honolulu.
