

SUNG By MISS MARGUERITE FISH.

IN THE SUCCESSFUL COMEDY DRAMA
ERMA THE ELF,

THE KEEPSAKES
IN THE
OLD CUPBOARD DRAWER.

Words and Music

by Charles Warren,

4

Author of "Papa, Sweet Mamma and Me," and "Sweetheart's Serenade," etc., etc.,

The Keepsakes in the old Cupboard Drawer.

Words and Music by CHARLES WARREN.

Piano.

fs ffs p

1. There's a cup-board, old and quaint, In our sit-ting-room at home, An
2. There's an old da-guer-reo-type, With a tar-nished cop-per frame, From heir-loom hand-ed down from son to son; Al-tho' its knobs are gone, and it which a wrinkled vis-age kind-ly peeps; 'Tis the like-ness of his wife, who his has a bat-tered air, Its con-tents are belov'd by ev' - ry - one; For enjoys and sor - rows shar'd, But now in the vil-lage churchyard sleeps. There's a trust - ed to its keep - ing are the treas - ures of our house, The bun - dle of old let - ters, with a fad - ed rib - bon tied; The relics up - on which our hearts set store. My old fa-ther, bent with age, of-ten first shoe that lit-tle ba-by wore; There's a lit-tle pock - et bible, with a looks with tear-dimm'd eye O'er the keep-sakes in the old cup-board drawer.

 bro - ken met - al clasp, 'Mong the keep-sakes in the old cup-board drawer.

Rit. - - - - -

CHORUS.

'Tis the store-house of many priceless treasures, And each has a mem'ry hov'ring o'er. . . .

'Tis the store-house of many priceless treasures, And each has a mem'ry hov'ring o'er. . . .

One brings a sigh of pain, Then a smile will come again, At the keepsakes in the old cupboard drawer.

One brings a sigh of pain, At the keepsakes in the old cupboard drawer.