

Capital and Labor

Written and Composed by Cary Madison Dickinson

Song

For Sale by All Music Dealers

600 - 1 P. E. V.

Copyright 1921 by Cary Madison Dickinson.

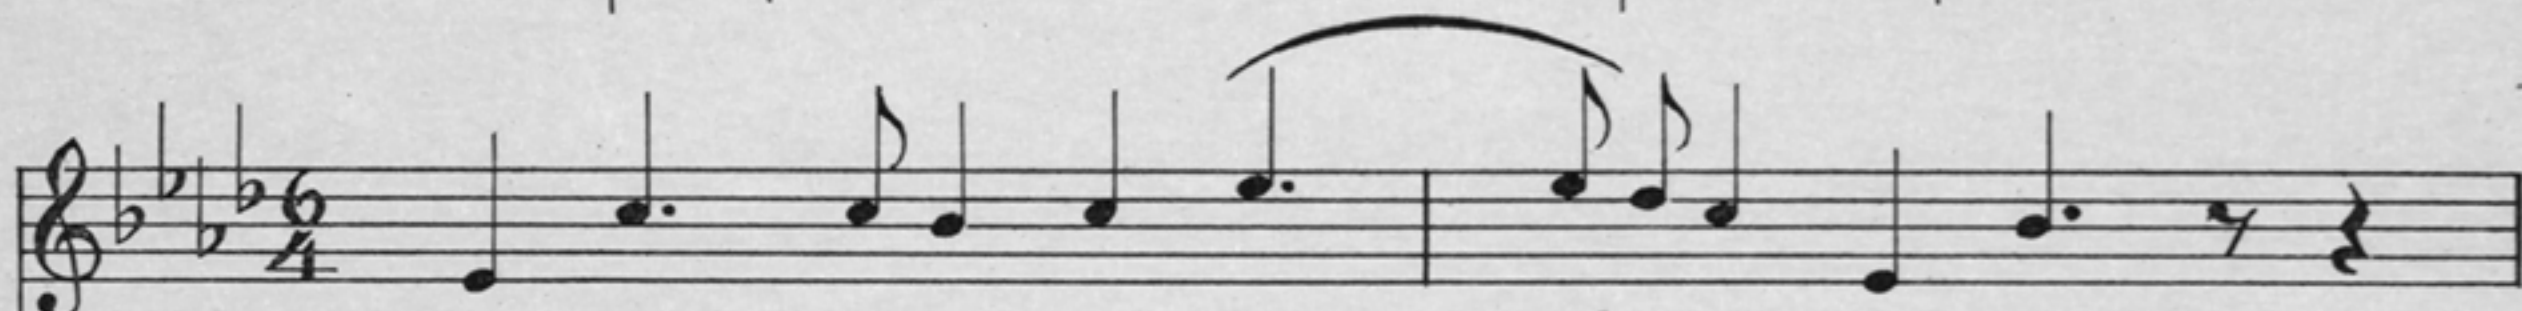

Written and composed by
Cary Madison Dickinson

Capital and Labor

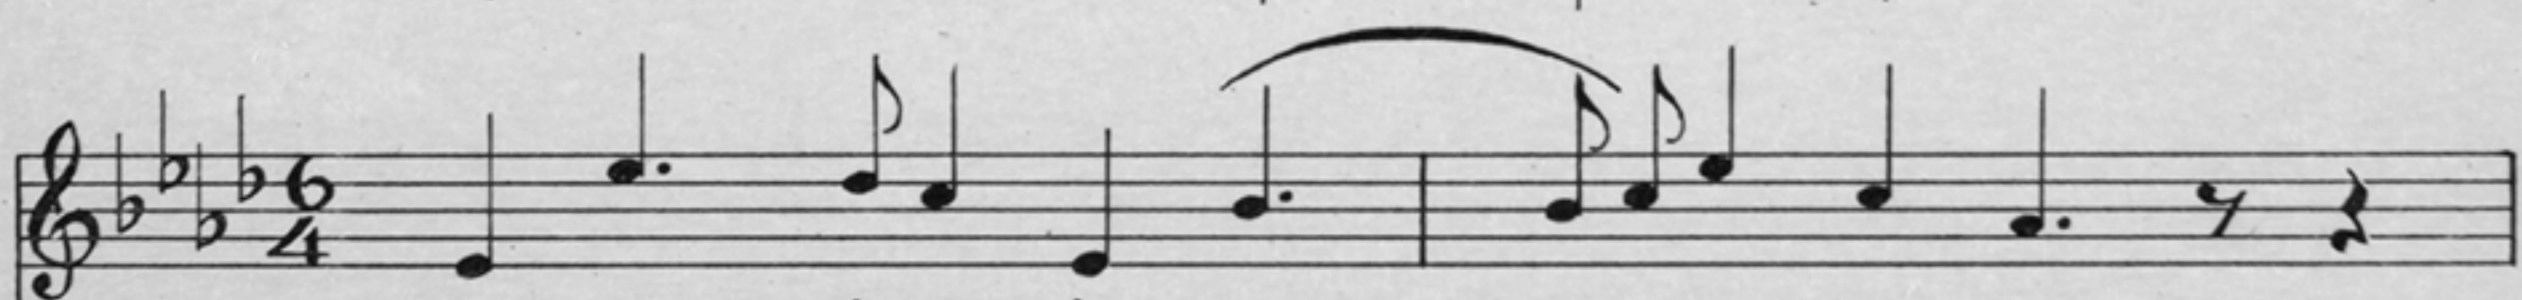

Voice

Piano.

1.— The law of com—pen—sa ————— tion is as sure
2.— The bet—ter are the la ————— bor and the soil,

As grav—i—ta—tion can be found to be,
The great—er will the har ————— vest al—ways be,

But on—ly minds un-sel — fish good and pure,
The fin—er is the skill and less the toil,

And that en—light-ened are, the truth can see,
So will in worth the pro — duct full a — gree,

And will it right and true be = lieve; (Continued to 3rd. page)
And high—er be the price and wage; " " " "

And just so sure are all the in-ter-ests
So cap-i-tal and la——bor ought to strive

Of cap-i-tal and la——bor in-ter-twined,
To pull to-ge-th-er for each oth-er's sake,

For their own wel-fare on each oth-er rests;
And will-ing be for each to live and thrive,

Tho in = de = pend = ent they are still com = bined,
For no rule bet = ter will they ev = er make,

And each its just due should re = ceive.
In this or an = y oth = er age.

4

600 - P.E.U.

Box 155
No. 52

Capital and Labor

Written and composed by Cary Madison Dickinson

The law of compensation is as sure
As gravitation can be found to be,
But only minds unselfish, good and pure,
And that enlightened are, the truth can see,
And will it right and true believe;
And just so sure are all the interests
Of capital and labor intertwined,
For their own welfare on each other rests;
Tho independent they are still combined,
And each its just due should receive.

The better are the labor and the soil,
The greater will the harvest always be;
The finer is the skill and less the toil,
So will in worth the product full agree,
And higher be the price and wage;
So capital and labor ought to strive
To pull together for each other's sake,
And willing be for each to live and thrive,
For no rule better will they ever make
In this or any other age.